City Will Celebrate Start Of 47-Acre Park Project In Program Next Friday

Next Friday is the date tentatively set for this community's celebration marking the setting out of the first trees on the city's 47-acre park.

With hundreds of trees scheduled to be placed during the next few weeks, a program is being planned to fittingly commemorate the actual start of the development of the park.

Fred E. Draper, president of the chamber of commerce, said today that the civic organization will sponsor the community celebration in cooperation with the city officials.

Individuals or groups may sponsor the setting out of a tree or trees, Mr. Draper said.

The ceremonies will be held on the park site, probably at a point near San Bernardino road. Complete details for the program will be announced early next week.

As a fitting follow-up for the local community program during the afternoon will be the meeting in the evening here of the Citrus Belt League of Municipalities. Ralph Cornell, landscape architect, who aided in the preparation of the park plans several years ago, will be the speaker at this meeting. City officials from all the cities in Riverside and San Bernardino counties belong to the organization meeting in the Upland Woman's club house.

ILLNESS CAUSES POOR ATTENDANCE IN FOUR SCHOOLS

Flu and Colds Account for Worst Record in Several Years, Report

"Illness during the last three months has caused the poorest school attendance in several years," said Harold W. Cook, Upland superintendent of schools today.

There have been no epidemics of such diseases as whooping cough, measles, or the like. The poor attendance has been caused by colds and flu. No serious consequences have been reported, but school attendance has been "very low". All four Upland schools have been affected.

Average daily attendance figures for the fifth month of school will be compiled next week. Today marks the end of the fifth school month.

Peach Crop Outlook For Year Reported Dark by Geo. Weldon

Most severe delayed foliation for peaches in the 16 years during which he has been making a study of the troubles, was prophesied today by George P. Weldon, Chaffey pomologist, when he issued his sixth annual "Southern California Peach Prospect Forecast." With an average mean temperature during December and January of 54.25 degrees, Weldon foresees a serious situation for the growers of the old varieties of peaches which are especially susceptible to warm winters.

In the printed bulletin, more than 100 copies of which were distributed this year, Weldon states that an average temperature one degree or more above 50 degrees, will result in late leafing and a correspondingly poor crop.

Youth Group Plans For Early Service On Easter Morning

During a meeting of the executive board of the Chaffey Area Christian Youth Council, held last evening in the Ontario First Methodist church, preliminary plans were made for an Eastern sunrise service.

Larry Smith was named program chairman and David Walkenshaw was made head of a committee to select a location for the service.

All churches in the Chaffey district are scheduled to participate in the union service.

Detailed plans for the service will be made at a general meeting of the youth organization to be held on March 10 at Bethel Congregational church in Ontario.

"Polly Make Believe" Chosen as Operetta

"Polly Make Believe" has been chosen as the operetta to be presented by the Upland elementary school as the Easter production.

Principal chorus work will be done by the kindergarten, and the first, second and third grades. The other three grades at the school—fourth, fifth and sixth will also assist with the production. "Hiawatha," the Indian operetta was given at Thanksgiving by the fourth and fifth grades, so these classes will not be expected to contribute as much to the coming production.

Bankers Hear Talk On Florida Freeze By Harry B. Harlow

Harry B. Harlow, manager of the Ontario-Cucamonga Fruit exchange, spoke to members of the county bankers' association at a dinner meeting in Rialto last night. Subject of his talk was the possible effect which the Florida and Texas freeze will have on California returns. He declined to make a prediction of the increase which would be realized in California as a result of the freeze, saying that it was not possible to accurately estimate the damage. Undoubtedly, prices will be higher, he said.

Three representatives from Upland attended the banquet. They were Miss Kathryn Applebury, Frank K. Nichols and Arthur Sherbondy of the Bank of America.

LOWER FREIGHT RATES ARE GIVEN

Railway Companies Reduce Citrus Hauling Charges To East

Beginning yesterday reduced railroad rates on California citrus to many midwestern points went into effect.

This information was received in a telegram from Karl D. Loss, Sunkist's traffic counsel at Washington.

"California shippers will benefit from sharp freight reductions to many important markets west of the Mississippi river," said General Manager Paul S. Armstrong. "We appreciate this voluntary action on the part of the railroads to increase volume of citrus shipments through reduced rates."

The exchange traffic department listed old and new rates effective February 15 on California citrus to a number of the major distribution centers. The following are a few typical examples of freight reductions per hundredweight: Amarillo, Texas, $1.05, 90c; Des Moines, Iowa, $1.42, $1.35; Dodge City, Kansas, $1.31, $1.00; Forth Worth, Texas, $1.37, $1.00; Kansas City, Mo., $1.42, $1.25; Lincoln, Nebr., $1.42, $1.25; Little Rock, Ark., $1.42, $1.35; Oklahoma City, Okla., $1.37, $1.00.

Three Permits for Building Are Issued

Three bulding permits have been issued by the city during February, one of them for a new residence.

Gene Allen has been given a permit for a house at 739 East Arrow highway. Rev. Alvin C. Burkholder, 548 Second avenue, was given a permit to make repairs to his residence which was recently damaged by fire. B. M. Books, 893 Fourth avenue, obtained a remodeling permit.

Bigley To Combine Grocery Stores Soon

Lee Bigley, local grocer, announced today that on March 1 he would combine his two markets into one store at a new location. The building at 161 East Arrow highway is being altered to accommodate the grocery stock and to enable Mr. Bigley and his brother, Norris Bigley, to better serve the public.

Proprietor of the two stores is now in charge of the market at 312 East Arrow highway, while Norris Bigley is manager of the market at 728 East Ninth street.

PROPOSED SALE OF S. A. PARK MAY BE ISSUE ON BALLOT

Councilmen Suggest Plan to Relieve City of Maintaining Tract

Advisability of the city selling San Antonio park was informally discussed by the city council last night and the question may be presented to the voters on the April 9 ballot.

Park land cannot be sold by the council without authorization by the voters and between now and the March 7 meeting in the city hall the officials will decide whether the issue will go on the ballot.

The property consists of 15 acres on Mountain avenue just north of Twenty-fourth street.

Maintenance costs about $400 a year. The councilmen expressed the belief the park was not used enough to justify the maintenance. For at least 10 years city crews have been giving the park some attention, such as keeping down the weeds, watering the trees and other maintenance work, it was explained. Private individuals and the Upland Lions club have also made special improvements in the park to accommodate the public.

The property was obtained by the city from the Pacific Electric Railway Co., which gave it as a park.

No offers have been obtained for the tract, the councilmen merely suggesting the possibility of selling the park so the city would be relieved of the burden of maintenance.

In case of a sale, the officials said that provision should be made for placing of a road to serve the people whose residences adjoin the property.

DR. JOHN MEHL IS CALLED TO U. S. C.

Son of Local Family Now on Harvard Staff To Take New Position

Dr. John Mehl, a member of the faculty at Harvard university, has accepted a position as assistant professor of bio-chemistry at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, and will take up his work there next fall, it was learned in a message received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Mehl, of the Mehl apartments on C street.

Dr. Mehl graduated from California Institute of Technology at Pasadena and later received his master's and his Ph. D. degrees from the University of California at Berkeley. This is his fourth year on the faculty at Harvard, where he has done considerable research work in addition to his teaching of bio-chemistry. He expects to continue his research work at U. S. C.

Dr. and Mrs. Mehl are expected to return to California early next summer.

Parrot That Kept Things Lively for 50 Years Mourned

Polly Sawyer, a parrot with a droll sense of humor, succumbed to a cold Wednesday evening, its life of ease in the Sawyer home coming to an end at 7 o'clock.

For 37 years the parrot had been in the family, first belonging to Mrs. J. F. Sawyer's mother and being called Polly McDowell. Polly helped rear the McDowell family and after many years, when the grandchildren began to visit Mrs. McDowell, Polly adopted them and cried when the babies cried and laughed with them when they laughed.

Fifteen years ago the parrot came to live with Mrs. Sawyer and his name was changed to Polly Sawyer.

Polly did not have a very extensive vocabulary, but he liked company and often entertained Mrs. Sawyer's guests with his chatter and merry chuckling. He possessed a real sense of humor, too. One time, Mrs. Sawyer recalls, a friend dropped an open sack of flour, which sprayed over the kitchen floor. The accident, serious to the women, seemed funny to the parrot, and he laughed long and heartily about it.

Parrots dislike cold weather and often Mrs. Sawyer has kept her furnace lighted just for the sake of her pet. When Polly grew droopy recently, Mrs. Sawyer visited a pet shop to learn what should be done and she cared for him tenderly. But his age was against him. Mrs. Sawyer thinks the bird must have been well over 50 years old.

Two Ex-Servicemen Register for Work

Two local World War veterans, described as "very good workers and very dependable", have registered with the Upland post of the American Legion for work of any kind.

A free employment bureau is being maintained for veterans by the local post.

"Now, all we need are two jobs for these deserving men", said Hjalmar Anderson, adjutant. "These men and their families will appreciate consideration if any jobs are available".

E. V. Wiseman Placed In Cast at Hospital

E. V. Wiseman, 380 West Ninth street, is a patient at the San Antonio Community hospital, and a cast was placed this week to aid him in the recovery of injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

He was hurt when the machine in which he was riding was struck by a hit and run driver. The accident occurred last Friday but injuries to his back were not believed at first to be serious.

GROWERS TOLD TO WATCH RED SPIDER

Dusting Necessary on Some Groves to Control Pest Prevalent Now

Citrus growers should watch the increase in red spider, advises Calvin C. Delphey, supervising agricultural inspector. Increase of the pest, normally expected at this time, is seen in various parts of the district. Growers may call the Upland office to request that Mr. Delphey or Harry B. Cavers inspect their groves.

D. N. dusting is recommended by Mr. Delphey as being the best control measure at this time for red spider. Use of oil spray is not advisable to use when mature fruit is on the tree.

Sixth Graders Going To City To Study "Lights"

To study various aspects of the subject of "Light," the project undertaken by the class this year, the Sixth grade, taught by Miss Florence Tarleton of the Upland Elementary school, will go to Los Angeles Saturday. A school bus has been secured for the trip.

First, the students will go to Olvera street to see the candle makers dipping candles. Next, the group will visit the Los Angeles museum where various types of early lighting will be studied. At Exposition park, the class will eat lunch. On the return trip the children will stop at the Pony Express in Arcadia where they hope to view early lighting devices on stage coaches, and also primitive street lighting.

This week, the class members have been making candles. Using melted beeswax and paraffin. Each child has dipped a candle.

Several weeks ago the children modeled from clay, candlesticks to hold their candles. Some are copies of old candlesticks. Next month, Miss Tarleton will take the candleholders to be fired. Children have scratched their names on the bottom of their candleholders.

The study of light has proved a means of studying the story of civilization. Earliest means of lighting and kinds of fuel for light have been the object of research.

One child, whose parents traveled in the Mediterranean region, brought a lamp which burned olive oil.

Also in the collection in the school room is a glass whale oil lamp used by Miss Tarleton's forebears in New Hampshire.

Scrapbooks, coverd with colorful paper, and decorated with a symbol of light, are being kept by students, showing the evolution of lighting. At present, the students have come to the era of kerosene lights, introduced the middle of the last century.

Each day, a half-hour or a three-quarter-hour period is devoted to the "activity" undertaken by the group this year. The class is divided into committees, who are given subjects for research. Committee members make verbal reports on their assignments.

When asked how she enjoyed the new "activity" method of teaching, Miss Tarleton replied that she found it so fascinating that she spent all her waking hours thinking about it.

GENE NISBET IS NOMINATED FOR PLACE ON BALLOT

Citrus Grower Will Be Candidate for City Council April 9

The name of Gene Nisbet was recorded yesterday with those of other nominees for the city council and the Uplander will be a candidate at the April 9 election.

While Mr. Nisbet's name was heard early in the discussions as to possibilities for service on the muncipal body his consent to become a candidate was not obtained until considerable persuasion on the part of friends and fellow residents in the community was brought to bear.

Advised that his nomination papers had been filed in the city hall, Mr. Nisbet said that he had at first hesitated to become a candidate. It is known, however, that he had been urged to run by residents in many parts of the citrus district. While vitally interested in the community and its welfare, Mr. Nisbet indicated he would make no personal campaign for the office.

V. H. Wilson, incumbent, is also a candidate for the city council. Nomination papers have been filed for Lewis Jenison for city clerk, and for Owen E. Atwood, city treasurer.

C. Ernest Olson, whose four year term on the city council expires, will not be a candidate.

MISS SETTLE WINS THIRD IN CONTEST

District Finals in Oratorical Contest Attract Many From Upland

Representing Chaffey high school in the oratorical contest sponsored by the American Legion and the Legion Woman's Auxiliary, Miss Miriam Settle of Upland won third place in the district finals held in Colton Tuesday evening.

Each contestant was required to speak on the Constitution of the United States and Miss Settle selected the topic "What the Constitution Offers to the High School Student". She made first place in the Chaffey finals, winning the right to represent the school in the district contest.

Roy Poole of San Bernardino was awarded first place in the Colton finals, with Tom Haldorsen of Colton almost tying him to take second place. Miss Settle came third on a close score, while Donald Brooks of Redlands placed fourth and Miss Marilyn Kollender of Victorville was fifth.

Poole and Haldorsen are eligible to enter the state competition to be decided on Feb. 25 at Oceanside.

Judges in the district contest were Curtis Guise of Claremont, Frank Bishop of Corona and Claude Randall of Ontario. The awards were presented by Robert F. Garner of San Bernardino, Twenty-fifth district commander, and Mrs. Marian Lienau of Needles, district Auxiliary president.

James A. Galanis of Ontario, Americanism chairman for the American Legion Twenty-fifth district, presided, and explained the aim of the Legion and Auxiliary in annually sponsoring the oratorical contest is to stimulate a more general study of the Constitution.

Miss Settle, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. H. Settle of 442 North Second avenue, was accompanied to Colton by her mother and a number from Chaffey that included Ernest W. Fischer, high school principal, and Mrs. Fischer, Miss Lois LeBaron Avery, instructor in public speaking, and a number of others.

Those attending from the Upland Legion post and Auxiliary included Mr. and Mrs. Hugh L. McLellan and son Tom, Harry Plum, commander of the post, and Mrs. Plum; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. E. Howarton, and Allan S. Barr.

Miss Settle gave a splendid presentation of her oration and the school and Legion representatives were justly proud of her success.

COUNCIL PUTS OK ON POLICE RADIO; TALK CITY PARK

Handling a wide diversity of matters, the city councilmen last night acted on the following municipal problems:

Authorized the placing of two-way radio sets in the three police cars and the police station as part of the closer law enforcement hook-up with other cities and the sheriff's department.

Defined definitely the duties of the city clerk beginning with the new term.

Officially appointed the police chief as license collector, he having served in this capacity for many years without a definite appointment.

Adopted a resolution calling the municipal election and appointing the election officers.

Discussed the tree planting program in the city park on San Bernardino road and also discussed the feasibility of selling San Antonio park.

Received a final report on the city hall building project, the structure having cost $62,512.03 and the equipment cost totaling $12,004.81.

NEW RADIO PLAN

As to the use of the two-way police radio system, the equipment will cost $635.25 and the city's share of the direct wire rental will be $14 a month, Police Chief E. C. Mehl said in explaining the proposal, Ontario will pay $32.25, Chino $7.75 and the county supervisors $135 a month for the $189 rental of the leased wire extending from the West End cities to the county seat, he reported.

Equipment in the police cars will permit the officers to be in two-way communication with either the local headquarters or with the sheriff's department, the chief explained.

The $635.25 will be cost of the materials, while county-employed technicians will make the installations.

Mr. Mehl made the forecast that use of the two-way system throughout the citrus area of the county would effectively discourage violations. "There will be a plan worked out whereby officers in the cities and the deputy sheriffs will cover certain defined areas and highways during a search for criminals," he said. "Officers will be in constant touch with headquarters and this thorough police check up will discourage criminals from coming to the county."

CITY CLERK'S DUTIES

So that candidates for the position of city clerk might know definitely what is expected of the elected official for $75 a month, the council listed the duties as follows:

1. Attend all city council meetings and record proceedings.
2. Make out warrants for demands that have been audited by the city council.
3. Keep a warrant record.
4. Receive monthly statements from all departments that collect money, and keep a record of all cash receipts and disbursements and post to general and subsidiary ledgers, take trial balances and close books monthly.
5. Prepare a summary statement of receipts and disbursements and funds at the end of each year, including opening and closing fund balances in the treasury. Present this to the council and publish in The Upland News.
6. Keep a record book of all ordinances and another of all resolutions and index the same.
7. Issue licenses as prescribed by ordinance.

LICENSE COLLECTOR

The police chief was officially appointed the license collector last night, although he has been doing this as a matter of custom for at least 30 years. A recent perusal

It Is Up to the People

This is being written Wednesday, in advance of the city council meeting, but it is quite safe to forecast that very few, if any, citizens will be in the city hall Thursday night.

Attendance at council meetings is not customary. It has been somewhat unusual for individuals to attend unless they are personally interested in matters up for discussion.

It is generally recognized now, however, that people are more interested in civic affairs than for many, many years. This interest is beyond the critical stage. People are looking constructively ahead. And attendance at council meetings in the future should be easier. People should feel more inclined to attend and to learn about their municipal government.

Press reports, no matter how complete, cannot give a real picture of what goes on, or an intimate account of the councilmen's efforts and study on the many problems.

One constructive step in the further development of a wholesome interest in civic affairs is the formation of the Upland Coordinating Council tonight. It is scheduled to consist of the presidents of all the service organizations in the community. It is to provide an open forum for the frank, constructive discussion of all local matters.

Another feature that might develop a closer relationship between the city hall and the taxpayers is a system used in Berkeley. A detailed account of what is being done in Berkeley is given elsewhere on this page. The Berkeley mayor personally mails an invitation to citizens to attend the council meetings and to serve as "counsellors".

Another instance—every week scores of interested citrus growers attend the meetings of the directors of the California Fruit Growers Exchange. Men and women eager to know more about their cooperative marketing organization, are in the large assembly room in the Sunkist building, Los Angeles, every Wednesday.

The San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors also encourage attendance at their meetings. And quite a large number of people are in the courthouse every Monday for the meetings.

It should be thus in Upland. It is advantageous for everyone to know more about the city, its government and its services. For example, everyone here should be proud of the fact that the city has more than $100,000 on deposit, some of it as a reserve and some of it as general operating funds. Yet, discussion about this sizeable fund has been discouraged. Some individuals who have noted the treasurer's reports no doubt wonder how and when this tidy sum was accumulated.

As a matter of fact, creation of this fund is a real credit to the city and the bank balance should inspire admiration.

Many other phases of the local government merit close study—and close study should result in a better understanding and a feeling of greater confidence between the public and the officials.

This is the time for nomination of candidates to the city council. The opportunity is up to the people.

The election will be held soon. Then there will be many opportunities for the public to continue their interest in civic affairs.

In this vitally important year of elections, interest in government and public matters should be intensified.

The beginning has been made for the development of an active, wholesome interest in the city and its government.

Guy-ser Spouts

BY THE EX-NEWS GUY

Well, we had some good Iowa friends call at our house the other day—and we felt kinda homesick for many of our old-time friends after we had a fine chat about them. Our guests were a couple of "young squirts" (husband and wife) when we left there—just out of high school only a short time . . . Now for some years they have been conducting a successful business—which impresses upon one "how time flies" . . . And I just think of another Iowa friend—a lady decidedly of an economic turn of mind, to state it mildly. She had a daughter soon to be married, and ever on the lookout for bargains, purchased a baby cab at a public auction for her . . . But to this day the daughter has had no need of such a vehicle—though that was about twenty-five years ago . . . The generosity (?) of the New York World's fair is demonstrated by an item I just read in the Iowa paper I formerly published. The little city—Osage—has a high school band that has attracted attention throughout the nation and the New York authorities invited the organization to play at their fair . . . However, the fair authorities impressed upon them that "the railroads and transportation companies have made extremely low rates for high school musicians, so your trip would be inexpensive. The fair can bear no expense, however, other than that of admission to the grounds and checking facilities for band instruments." . . . New Yorkers apparently plan on staging their fair the second year without any expense . . . and the San Francisco fair promoters might get some valuable pointers in that line if they are so inclined. However, such generosity may not be advisable—they might die from enlargement of the heart.

MAC THE MASTER

Perhaps there are few outside the Upland Rotary club who know that Mac the Medicine Man simply oozes poetry incessantly—almost. He's great on parodies and there is seldom a week passes that he does not spring a new one or two—and they really click. One of his best, I think, was perpetrated upon his defenseless fellow club members during the "slight freeze" we experienced in these parts three years ago . . . It follows the tune of "Springtime in the Rockies" and goes thusly—sing it: "When it's springtime in the Rockies, there is ice on Jack Howe's trees; When there is no hail or snowstorm, there's a good stiff desert breeze; But we'll stay in California, with its native sons and flees—Yes' we'll stay in California — and we'll freeze — and freeze—and freeze." . . . I am sure that no "back east" resident could by use of his wildest imagination feature a native Californian—(well, almost a native) such as Mac having an outburst such as the foregoing.

SWEET MUSIC

Patter of the raindrops in this citrus district.

THIS AND THAT

I forgot to mention that one of the greatest kick our Iowa friends got while in California was in going through the packing house of the Upland Lemon Growers Association—and from the basket of citrus fruit presented to them by The Upland News, chamber of commerce and packing houses. . . Can you think of anything that fills the specifications of a non-essential any nearer than a professional master of ceremonies? If those boys were as funny as they apparently think they are their hearers would laugh themselves to death. And many of them are not only not funny—they are positively coarse and rude. . . Assemblyman Yorty of Los Angeles county is certainly "blistering" his fellow Democrat Governor Olson—and to think the two formerly fought "side by side" in the ranks of the donkey party"! Must be something wrong somewhere. . . Also I notice in the headlines that "Olson Delays on Bioff's Extradition". Wonder what the governor's waiting on? . . . Maybe you have heard the story about the county seat editor who was thought to be on his death bed. The doctor said to him: "Your circulation is very poor." To which the sick editor sharply responded: "You're a liar—we've got the largest circulation in the county."

Visitors At City Council?

Berkeley Mayor Tells of Sending Invitations To Interested Citizens

In Berkeley, an effort is being made to "close the gap between public opinion and those chosen to govern".

What is being tried there may be of interest to Upland people.

"Under the Berkeley method as installed last Dec. 5, a list of 240 names of citizens from all sections of the city and representing varied interests was prepared," writes Mayor Frank S. Gaines of Berkeley in the "Western City"—a magazine for time to call a halt and leave the public officials. "Ten names are drawn prior to each weekly meeting of the city council and notices are mailed to the bearers of those names, inviting them to appear as stockholders at the meeting of their board of directors.

CITIZENS INTERESTED

"Our hope, of course, is that the plan will put citizens to work for democracy and result in an aroused interest in the American method of government. We feel that if democratic institutions are to be preserved, it is well that citizens generally be familiar with the things they presumably stand for.

"Thus we feel that we have implemented our democracy and given Berkeley citizens a means of making themselves constantly effective right in the fount of city government. In fact, it has been predicted that before our new plan has been in operation many weeks, those 10 weekly invitations to stockholders will be in demand and actually sought after.

"Paralleling this activity, we are encouraging the gathering of larger numbers of spectators in general at the council sessions.

STUDY CHARTER

"Yet, further, a community campaign has been instituted to foster citizen participation in government. We have printed an initial lot of 5,000 copies of the Berkeley city charter, which we term our 'local constitution', and which we are urging be studied along with the Constitution of the United States.

"Our purpose now is to obtain the fullest possible advantage from the present impulse toward a regenerated democratic Americanism. The people palpably are in the mood and we feel that it remains now only for us to act to enable them to express themselves in a really effective manner. The choices made in the privacy of the voting booth are not enough. The citizen must on the one hand 'check up' on the officials he has elected and on the other hand, help those officials govern with every bit of intelligent cooperation he can muster.

GO THROUGH MOTIONS

"Too many of us have been going through the motions of democracy for years; too many of us have been mistaking verbal democracy, the mere nomenclature of democracy for the real thing. And real democracy, incidentally, is, to my mind, one of the most efficient governing forms ever devised, and the cleverest as well. You can't compare it to distatorial 'efficiency' that gets things done promptly but at a cost humanity should not be expected to pay and indeed in the long run cannot pay. Besides, in emergency, democracy too knows how to be prompt and to the point."

Political Parade

BY CLEM WHITAKER

The historic struggle now in full blast at the special legislative session in Sacramento—a furious fight without quarter between Governor Olson and the majority membership of both houses of the Legislature—will not end when the session ends.

It will simply begin all over again, with both sides carrying the fight direct to the people of California.

And the battle now in the making, if this writer reads the handwriting on the wall correctly, will be of greater economic and political significance than any other which has been fought in California since the drab dawn of depression.

Here are some of the superficial, but highly-explosive factors which have contributed to the approaching show-down:

Chagrined by the ouster of his speaker in the assembly, embittered by attacks on his relief administration and further infuriated by refusal of the Legislature to approve either his $95,000,000 spending program for relief or his $50,000,000 new tax program, Governor Olson has declared open war on the lawmakers—announcing that he will carry the fight to the voters when the legislators run for re-election this fall.

The legislators, on the other hand, are boiling mad over the governor's asserted attempts to jam his program down their throats and his threat to call repeated special sessions of the legislature unless they approve his proposals for unrestricted relief spending and new taxes. So heated have become some of his adversaries that they are threatening impeachment or recall proceedings against him if administration whip cracking continues.

Those, however, are sparks from the anvil. The fundamental issues—on which the voters of California will be asked to take sides—are these:

1—Should "liberal" relief policies be maintained—and liberal relief appropriations voted? Or should a tight check-rein be placed on relief expenditures to eliminate extravagance, weed out the chiselers and eliminate "the unworthy one-third" now said to be taking a free ride at the expense of burdened taxpayers?

2—Should business and industry and the individual taxpayer be forced to pay additional taxes to finance generous relief allotments and an expanding governmental structure? Or has California reached the tax ceiling? Is it money in industry, where it can be used to employ more men and add to payrolls, instead of turning it over to government for relief rolls?

On these issues, the governor and the legislature will be judged by the voters of California at the fall elections.

Old Tires Turned Into Door Mats Provide Money at Beulah College

Returns from sale of door mats made from old tires by boys at Beulah college have averaged $51 a month since the project was initiated last fall, B. J. Lenhert, business manager of the college, said today.

The work provides employment for sometimes as many as eight boys, and has proved helpful to boys working their way through school. During rainy weather, when boys could not be employed on ranches or on other outdoor work, they could spend their time profitably making the mats.

Special machinery was installed for part of the work. Cutting the old tires into strips is done by machinery. Punching holes is done with a special machine operated by hand. Weaving of strips is also a hand process.

One of Every Nine Persons in State Get Relief

Eight hundred thousand people, one out of every nine persons in California, receive direct public aid, Federal, state or local. Aid given to these 800,000 persons totals $15,000,000 for one month.

These facts are brought out in a study of nine major forms of public assistance in California, just completed by California Taxpayers' association. The $15,000,000 a month is the actual amount of relief given, the association states, and does not include administrative or overhead costs; neither does it include surplus commodity distribution nor the cost of care for persons in welfare institutions.

Uplander, Veteran of 41 Years In Railway Building, Relates Many Experiences

Forty-one years ago Thomas H. Settle, 442 Second avenue, accepted the only job he could find. He and a Chinaman were set to work wiping Southern Pacific engines at the railroad yards in Bakersfield.

From that time, Mr. Settle was advanced in positions. As construction superintendent for the company he was in charge of replacing one of the longest bridges in this part of the country. That bridge is the one over the Santa Ana river at Colton, which was damaged in the 1938 flood. It measures 620 feet.

Strange as it seems, it took only four minutes to move the new bridge deck onto the capped piles. The new deck was mounted on 11 trucks. More than 20 men, working in perfect coordination, with pinch bars, moved the gigantic deck onto its new location. But five months' work preceded the operation that took four minutes.

HE PROVED IT

"They said we couldn't do it," remembers Mr. Settle in recalling the suspense which accompanied this engineering feat on August 8, 1938.

But the doubting Thomases were wrong.

Although there was much routine, there were many exciting moments, Mr. Settle says. Many times the workers and the construction superintendent took their lives in their hands.

"But I was lucky," believes the retired Upland railroad employe. "During the 40 years that I worked for the company, only two fatal injuries occurred to men working under me."

Once, Mr. Settle escaped by only a hair's breath being a fatal injury himself. That was the time he and his crew were rebuilding a tunnel in Mexico 1200 feet long, which had been burned out. Pictures of the tunnel after the fire show the railroad tracks twisted in fantastic shapes.

This was his most dangerous job, Mr. Settle considers. The tunnel had to be entirely retimbered. There was always danger of dirt caving into the tunnel. Once, as Mr. Settle was entering the tunnel, such a cave-in occurred. If Mr. Settle had been two feet farther in, he would not be alive today to tell the story.

BLAST IS FATAL

Another time, workers were pouring concrete in the San Fernando-Newhall tunnel. Men had to go in ahead to blast out the rock. One man had gone in, and the dynamite must have gone off prematurely. He was fatally injured.

Living in freight cars, eating food prepared by Chinamen, Mr. Settle and his men were away from home weeks at a time. Once he was absent three months without returning.

In Yuma, following a washout in 1909, he remembers working three nights and two days without stopping. "The mosquitos ate us up," he recalls.

HERE SINCE 1921

Since 1921, the Settles have lived in Upland. Mr. and Mrs. Settle have seven children. Three are at home now.

It's rather tame in Upland, Mr. Settle, now retired, finds. With no noisy engines roaring overhead, no canyons to conquer with 185-foot high bridges (such a bridge he built in Mexico), no huge cranes to lift gigantic timbers, he sometimes yearns for the excitement of his railroad days.

"I wish I could pass on my experience to somebody else," he reasons. "But that's one thing that can't be done."

Loren Welch Will Sing Leading Role In Opera Monday

When the San Gabriel Opera Co. presents the opera "Lucia di Lammermoor" Monday evening in the Alhambra high school auditorium, Upland music lovers will hear the world's youngest baritone ever heard in a leading role in grand opera.

The young man, who hasn't seen more than 17 winters, and who will be graduated this June from Chaffey high school, is Loren Welch, the possessor of a richly developed voice plus an unusual musical talent.

It is hardly five months since Loren applied to Maestro Caselotti, the director of the San Gabriel Opera company, for an audition. His great possibilities being discovered, he was offered immediately the leading baritone role of Lord Ashton in the opera "Lucia di Lammermoor", which he undertook to study at once, necessitating weekly trips to Alhambra for lessons and rehearsals.

Osa Johnson Will Speak, Show Films In Lecture Course

Oca Johnson will appear in person with the moving picture film, "Jungles Calling", as a substitute for the scheduled lecture on the Claremont Colleges Lecture series of Armand Denis and Leila Roosevelt next Monday at 8:15 p. m. The committee on auditorium events feels fortunate to secure this famous lecturer, who is well known to Claremont audiences, on the same date as the scheduled appearance of the Denises, whose return to the United States has been delayed through crossing the war zone.

"Jungles Calling" represents a selection of the most interesting and adventurous experiences of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson's years in the Melanesian Islands, Borneo, Ceylon, Australia, the Malay Peninsula and Africa and has been cut from 1,000,000 feet of moving picture film. Osa Johnson, who is a fascinating speaker, brings a personal narrative that is vivid and colorful.

How to gain most from higher prices

In recent years the supply of oranges and grapefruit has exceeded the demand at satisfactory prices. Thus prices have been low.

Now the supply has been heavily reduced. Prices will go up.

With this situation, Exchange growers stand to gain the most.

Growers who sold their crops early will see others pocket the profit. Exchange grower returns will be in line with the advancing market.

But this is only one of the points in the Exchange grower's favor.

The Exchange has direct representation in all the markets to act exclusively in the grower's interests. It is prepared to take full advantage of the many exceptional sales opportunities which will occur.

Exchange members have the further advantage of selling under the "Sunkist" brand. Their fruit will bring higher than average prices.

Because of large volume, Exchange marketing costs are the lowest. Even including advertising retains (more than repaid in price premiums) they compare favorably with any.

All this assures more returns for Exchange fruit, and more of that return for the grower.

Take advantage of all these benefits. Investigate at once what Exchange membership will mean to you in added income. Call at the address below—or at any district exchange or Sunkist packing house.

NEWS OF SOCIETY AND CLUBS

MRS. ETHEL THRASH, SOCIETY EDITOR

Postal System Theme Of Entertaining Talk at Club

Mrs. Mary Briggs, postmaster of Los Angeles, convinced her audience at the Upland Woman's club last Tuesday that her ability entitles her to the unique position she occupies. She is the only woman to hold such a position.

Business, industry and government need both men and women to be well-balanced, Mrs. Briggs believes, just as a well-balanced home needs both a man and a woman.

The present position that women occupy is the result of an evolutionary process, she thinks. It is a sign of maturity that women are admitted to practically every business and profession.

"But women need never go out and fight for women. We are all first Americans. Men realize that they are rather feeble to go on always alone. Women have a great deal to learn, though. What they accomplish depends on their individual gifts.

"It is with humility and with gratitude that I accept my present position," she continued. As head of the Los Angeles post office, she employs 4,600 persons, and 260 of these are women. In the post office department, 300,000 persons are employed, she said. Receipts of the department make it the largest business in the world.

"Not even the president of the United States could demand a letter be taken out of the mail," she continued, in explaining the privilege which we enjoy in this democracy in being able to write what we please, and send it where we please without censor.

Honesty and industry are two virtues highly valued in the post office service, she explained. And the reward for dependable, consistently satisfactory service is the retirement pension plan which has been perfected over a period of many years, and which pays retired employes $100 a month for life.

The stability of post office positions make them highly desirable, she continued, and these civil service jobs are increasingly more in demand.

She related a number of entertaining human-interest stories which sounded like case histories of a social service worker.

Mrs. J. Emery Sargent asked Mrs. Una R. Winter to introduce the speaker, since it was at Mrs. Winter's suggestion, she said, that Mrs. Briggs was asked to appear before the local group.

As luncheon speaker, Prof. Herschel R. Griffin of Chaffey junior faculty, spoke on Lincoln.

"Don't call Mary Todd, Lincoln's wife, a shrew," he said. "Here was a marriage of completely incompatible persons. If it had not been for his wife, Lincoln might not have achieved what he did. She was the goad to his ambition."

The speaker emphasized the quality of spiritual renunciation which the emancipator possessed, telling of the humiliations he accepted. He also explained how Lincoln's defeats developed his acumen. What we cherish above all things in Lincoln, he said, is that a man of those dimensions could arise from the common soil.

Mrs. L. A. Fox, ways and means chairman, announced the "Tiny Piper" dinner on February 28. Mrs. Donald E. Hul, president, presided.

Business Women Hold Party and Program At Club House

A combined valentine dinner party and patriotic program featured the meeting of the Upland Business and Professional Women's club held last evening in the Upland Woman's club house.

Dinner was served at 6:45 at tables attractively decorated in the national colors. Red, white and blue flowers and candles were used in combination with streamers of crepe paper and colorful valentines served as place favors.

Mrs. William A. Gilliland, president, conducted a brief business session and announcements were made of events to which the club women are invited. The County Council meeting will be held in Chino on Wednesday, Feb. 21, and the San Bernardino club will observe guest nght on Thursday, Feb. 29.

The club officials decided to make a special occasion of the next board meeting, to be held on March 7, by motoring to Knott's Berry farm at Buena Park for a dinner session. Any members of the club who desire to may join in the trek. The regular club meeting will be held on March 14, and plans were made to observe "employers night" at the April dinner meeting.

Mrs. Harry Plum stated the Ontario and Chino clubs have signified their intention to join the Upland club in sponsoring the candidacy of Mrs. Vivian M. Santolucito of the local club for reelection to the office of recording secretary for the Southern District Federation.

Mrs. A. E. MacLaren served as program chairman and prefaced the more serious part of the program with a bit of fun.

Distributing paper and pencils, she turned off all lights and directed the women to draw a picture of George Washington on a horse. The works of art, all executed in the dark, were little short of marvelous and provided much amusement. Miss Mabel Davis proved the most efficient contestant and was presented a prize.

Assisting Mrs. MacLaren, Miss Evelyn Engle had charge of a special musical program and presented her fellow teachers in the Upland schools, Mrs. Elizabeth Staffield, Miss Evelyn Cross and Miss Ellen Thorson, who delighted their audience with a group of six songs. They were accompanied at the piano by Miss Dorothy McAdam.

Mrs. Maud Linsley gave an interesting talk on Lincoln, telling something of his character and of his statesmanship. Mrs. Otis Cooper and Mrs. Harry Plum supplemented her talk with short stories of the great president.

Mrs. Una R. Winter was assigned the pleasant task of speaking about Susan B. Anthony, who shares honors in February with Lincoln and Washington. Mrs. Winter showed pictures of the memorials that have been dedicated to Miss Anthony, including the giant Sequoia tree that was named in her honor through the efforts of Mrs. Winter. She also told of interviews she has with a number of persons who worked with Miss Anthony in her fight for equal suffrage for women.

Large pictures of Washington, Lincoln and Miss Anthony were displayed.

The three vocalists concluded the program with a second group of songs, all greatly enjoyed.

The club women were happy to welcome Mrs. Vivian M. Santolucito, who was present for the first time since her illness several weeks ago.

Visitors present were Mrs. MacLaren's house guest, Miss Ethel Moorhouse of Kansas and Miss Isabelle Read of Missouri.

Silver Tea Given by Church Women Is Big Success

Approximately 65 women gathered in the social hall of the Presbyterian church for the silver tea given by Mrs. Maud M. Brogan's group of the Presbyterian Woman's association Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Mrs. H. M. Guy served as chairman of the committee in charge and under her direction a delightful afternoon was provided for the guests.

Jars of rose pink flowering quince graced the hall and on the smartly appointed tea table was a beautiful arrangement of springtime flowers, the ensemble having the appearance of a huge old fashion Valentine. In a low white bowl centering the table were dainty blue for-get-me-nots, baby iris in pastel shades and small pink rosebuds. Surrounding the bouquet were small heart-shaped bowls filled with violets. The glow from two Colonial lamps lighted the table.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. H. S. Bailey, the incoming president of the association, and Mrs. Elizabeth Moore. Mrs. A. P. Moreman greeted the guests at the door.

During the afternoon Miss Grace Warner of Washington, D. C., house guest of her cousin, Mrs. S. G. Moore, entertained with a group of beautifully rendered vocal solos and the Cecilian quartet of Beulah college delighted their audience with several selections. The quartet includes the Misses Ruth Book, Ruth Franklin, Loine Gish and Harriet Trautwein, all of whom have excellent voices. Miss Bertha Palmer, pianist, accompanied Miss Warner; the quartet sang without accompaniment.

A generous sum was realized from the tea and will go into the association treasury.

FRUIT PACKERS FOR MANY YEARS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Ruse Comment on Different Status of Workers

"Yes, we're fruit tramps."

So stated a former resident of Upland, who with his wife has returned after three years spent in and near Placerville, Marysville and Medford, Oregon. The returning residents—Mr. and Mrs. George D. Ruse—have packed fruit for many years. They had some interesting comments to make on the status of fruit workers.

Today there is tremendous competition for jobs in all parts of California, Mr. Ruse says. Years ago, when the two were packing oranges at the Upland Citrus association, the situation was different. Now there is an entirely new generatioin of workers, young people who a decade ago would have sought other employment now gladly accept work packing and picking fruit.

Probably as a result of the great over-supply of labor, pay for packing has decreased. Once upon a time a packer could make from $5 to $10 a day. Now the pay usually ranges around $3 a day, which is about the same as the worker makes in the field, Mr. Ruse says.

However, Mr. Ruse feels that the workers receive just treatment. When prices for fruit is low, it is to be expected that wages for work will be reduced.

In northern California, the self-labeled "fruit tramps" say that competition from Japanese workers is keen.

The best place to live, they believe, is in Southern California. Ten years ago Mr. and Mrs. Ruse were called back to Tabor, Iowa, to take care of their parents. Now both Mr. and Mrs. Ruse's parents have passed away.

P.-T. A. PRESENTS UNIQUE PROGRAM

Conference System Discussed And Boy Scouts and Founders Honored

The parent and teacher conference system, which has replaced the report card system in the first six grades in the Upland schools, was the topic of discussion during the meeting of the Upland Parent-Teacher association held Wednesday afternoon in the Upland Elementary school auditorium.

This method, by which all parents are sent invitations three times during the school year, asking them to call at the school and confer with the teachers concerning their children's records, has been in use in the Elementary school for the past six years, and has proven quite satisfactory.

SCOUTS TAKE PART

The meeting was opened at 2:45 by Mrs. T. George Cunning, president, and the salute to the flag was led by three Boy Scouts, Dale Goodban from troop No. 1, Raymond Whyborn of troop No. 3, and Kent Kough of troop No. 4. Each of the boys spoke briefly, telling of the benefits of Scouting and what membership in a Scout troop means to him. Their appearance was one of the various activities sponsored by the Scouts in observance of National Scout week, which celebrates the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the organization.

Mrs. Cunning conducted a routine business session and the roll call resulted in the $1 attendance prize being awarded to Miss Mamie Porter's second grade room. Mrs. J. B. McCarter, as chairman, presented the program.

FOUNDERS HONORED

In observance of Founders day, a particularly effective candle-lighting service was conducted by past presidents of the association, those taking part being Mrs. Hjalmar Anderson, Miss Florence Tarleton, Mrs. J. B. McCarter, Mrs. C. V. Benson, Mrs. E. C. Mehl, Mrs. Thos. H. Settle, Miss Jessie Brown and Mrs. T. George Cunning.

A penny march netted a nice sum to be donated to the Founders day fund to be used in P.-T. A. extension work.

DISCUSSION HELD

Feature of the meeting was the round table discussion of the topic "The School Reports to the Parent Through Conferences."

Harold W. Cook, principal of the junior high school and superintendent of the Upland school district, served as chairman, and others taking part were Miss Jessie Brown, principal of the Elementary school; Mrs. Owen E. Atwood, Mrs. Esther Kremer, Miss Ellen Thorson, Mrs. George Eyer, Mrs. Neal Van Dorin and Mrs. J. B. McCarter.

Mr. Cook explained the teacher-parent conference system and stated that so far as he knows the Upland school was the first to try the system.

The manner of holding the conferences, their purposes and results were thoroughly discussed, with those participating expressing hearty approval of the system.

Adjourning to the cafeteria, the group enjoyed a social hour, with refreshments being served. The valentine motif was used in the table decorations. The third grade mothers were hostesses and Mrs. Atwood and Mrs. Rose Johnston presided at the tea table.

ANGELS TO COME SUNDAY TO START SPRING TRAINING

Batterymen Will Arrive First With Others Due Week Later

Under the leadership for the first time of "Jigger" Statz, the Los Angeles Baseball club will begin its annual spring training program next week. About 25 players, regulars and aspirants, will arrive in Ontario Sunday and on Feb. 26.

The first contingent will consist largely of batterymen, the pitchers and catchers coming earlier to get a head start in the gruelling training program.

Statz, who has been with the Angels for years, succeeded to the managership of the club at the close of the none-too-successful 1939 season. A popular member of the squad and efficient as a fielder and dependable as a batter, Statz will be closely watched in his new role.

During the early weeks of the training program, the squad will be trimmed down, those eliminated being either released or sent to minor clubs.

During the six weeks stay, the club will participate in a regular schedule of practice games.

Headquarters for the players will be the Casa Blanca hotel in Ontario.

Funeral Rites Held For Former Manager Of Upland Hospital

Funeral service for Mrs. Clifford H. Eagle of Redlands, formerly Mrs. Caroline Vermilye of Upland, was held Thursday at 2 p. m., at Trinity Episcopal church in Redlands.

Mrs. Eagle suffered a sudden heart attack last Sunday afternoon and passed away at the home of her sister, Mrs. James Sanderson, 608 West Nevada street, Ontario, where she was visiting.

Mrs. Vermilye became widely known in Upland while serving as superintendent of the old San Antonio hospital on Tenth street at San Antonio avenue. She also was the first superintendent of the present San Antonio Community hospital, remaining there in that capacity for several years. About 10 years ago she resigned that position to become superintendent of the Redlands Community hospital. Later she retired from hospital work and married Captain Clifford H. Eagle. They resided at 1425 West Fern avenue, Redlands.

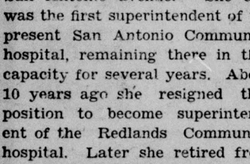

Mrs. Eagle is survived by her husband and her sister, Mrs. Sanderson.

A number of local friends attended the funeral service.

REVIEW OF BOOKS AT LOCAL LIBRARY

First Woman Correspondent in Soviet Arctic Relates Fascinating Story

MRS. RUTH WEST, REVIEWER

"I Went to Soviet Arctic", by Dr. Ruth Gruber.

A book by a woman about women is not unusual, but when the author travels to the Arctic Circle to find material, the book at once takes on an added thrill for the reader. "Some people," writes Dr. Gruber, "go to the Arctic in search of new land, new routes, adventure, or gold. Others go to set up weather bureaus and polar radio stations. I went in search of women".

Miss Gruber was awarded a Ph. D. after only one year's study in Germany. Later she again went abroad to tackle the problems facing women under fascism, communism, and democracy. After spending some time in other countries, she went to Leningrad. Her friend, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, had given her a letter of introduction to the head of the Arctic Institute. Soon she was enroute to the Arctic, not only the first woman correspondent, but almost the only correspondent to make that adventurous trip.

Her study led her at once to a territory as large as the United States and perhaps as rich in natural resources. She found it already producing lumber, gold and furs. In order to tap the wealth of this vast region, a tremendous colonization movement is required, and in that movement women are playing a part fully as important as that of men. In every field, from education and science to manual labor, men and women are working side by side.

After some months in Igarka, the Chicago of the Arctic Circle, whose mayor is a woman, Dr. Gruber followed the newly opened northern sea route around the remotest tip of Siberia through the Bering Straits and down to Vladivostok. She stopped at Dickson Island and many other places of interest, each time gathering new impressions, sometimes humorous, but always fascinating.

O'Keefe & Merritt Gas Range Added To Colborn Store

Mr. and Mrs. Amos R. Colborn, who for years have been handling electrical household appliances exclusively, today have added a gas range to their stock.

In selecting a range, the local merchants carefully studied various lines and chose the O'Keefe & Merritt as the one they deemed the best for their trade. This range is made in Los Angeles and is described as especially economical and attractive. Its various features attracted Mrs. Colborn, who said it was the kind she could best recommend to her customers.

The ranges are now on display at the local store.

While adding the gas range, the pioneer electrical company will continue to feature the Westinghouse electrical range and the other electrical items.

BIG HISTORICAL EVENTS IN REVIEW

Chaffey Students Will Present Outstanding Pageant Tonight

Music, drama and moving pictures in keeping with the patriotic celebrations during the month of February, will make up the "Pageant of America" in Chaffey auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock. Under the direction of Ruth Tremaine Kegley, this entertainment is being presented by the junior college Little Theater, assisted by vocal, instrumental music and high school dramatic departments and Company G of the National Guard.

In the scene from the settling of the Northwest Territory, directed by Miss Gretchen Lizer, Ray Brian will appear as a scout for the band of white settlers. As one of the narrators, Ross Haynes will introduce the theme of the pageant, "The Man Without a Country", by reciting the verse from Scott's "Lay of the Lost Minstrel", which begins with the words, "Breathes there the man with soul so dead."

In the scene from the life of Nathan Hale, James Larson will appear as one of the Britishers who have captured the Revolutionary patriot. Off-stage vocal music during the pageant will include "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes", "Francois Rousseau", "Tenting Tonight" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic". Singers are the Cantadores, under Florence Hill Blakeslee, and a male chorus directed by S. Earle Blakeslee.

Dancing is to be provided by the Californianos under Ponce Espino. The performance will conclude with the singing of "God Bless America" by Loren Welch, with Miss Elinor Corn at the organ.

Opening prelude features 55 members of the band, conducted by Murray Owen. Other instrumental music includes a suite of marches "From the Days of George Washington", and the grand exit march, "The Stars and Stripes Forever", by John Phillip Sousa.

Three moving picture shorts which will be shown are entitled "Louisiana Purchase", "Missions of California" and "Man Without a Country". This is the second such patriotic entertainment to be given in Chaffey auditorium, the first being part of the dedicatory series last spring.

Kelly Seay Fails To Duck and Gets Fatal Count of 10

BY W. H. CULP

Well shipmates, it's a sad, sad story, but Kelly Seay, jaysee gridder and heavyweight fighter, forgot to duck in his fight with James Farrell the other night. The result was that Seay was knocked out in the fourth round. Seay knocked Farrell down for the count of nine in the second round and knocked him out of the ring later, only to run into a lucky punch delivered by Farrell. Seay won a host of friends by his performance and although the knockout goes down in the record book as a win by Farrell, the bout will be long remembered by Upland fans as one of Seay's best fights.

Jake Gill, Upland light heavy, upset the dope sheet when he turned in an impressive four-round decision over an old Ontario favorite, Benny Nosbusch. Gill outfought and outclassed his opponent at all times.

Other results were: Jimmy Reay, Pomona featherweight, drew with A. Medrano, Los Angeles; Savas Robledo, Colton light weight, decisioned Wally Hickel, Hollywood. Five other bouts made up the card. Next week's card will have Jake Gill in the main event class.

"SUSAN AND GOD"

A scatterbrain, not in this case as delgihtful as the rain, but rather falling into the dubious category of prattling missionary is Susan Trexel.

As chief source of interest in Rachel Crothers' comedy "Susan and God," this same Mrs. Trexel races from the white heat of discovery to the glow of values recognized and the path is one that audiences all over the Stars and Stripes have relished with keen delight. The Crothers' hit comes to the Pasadena Community Playhouse, Feb. 20 to March 2.

NEW PARSONAGE ALMOST READY

Mennonite Church Home for Pastor, Family Modern In All Details

Soon to be occupied by the Rev. and Mrs. Lester Hostetler and family, is the new parsonage, nearing completion, for the Mennonite church. The attractive seven-room home is located on Sixth avenue directly west of the church.

Designed by George Kendrick of Pomona, the residence is of frame and stucco construction. Including the garage, it contains 2,140 feet of floor space. In the house itself are 1,780 feet of floor space.

A covered front entrance porch leads into an entrance hall. A commodious coat closet is planned conveniently at the right of the entry, while the left opens into a living room 16 by 21 feet in size. A fireplace on the east wall of the living room is made with ventilators in the wall about shoulder height to force warm air back into the room. North of the living room is the dining room.

The kitchen, with its cream-tiled sink, has windows on the north and east. The sink is located under the north windows. An abundance of built-in cupboards makes the kitchen convenient. A dining alcove is located in the south end of the kitchen.

A sun room opens off the kitchen and the front entry hall. Heat for this room is provided by a dual floor furnace, serving the sun room and the living room.

A long hallway leads to the three bedrooms and bath. Wardrobes with sliding doors are found in all bedrooms. A floor furnace in the hall heats the bedrooms. Ample space for storage is provided in the large linen closets found in the hall. A coat closet also opens off the hall.

The bathroom is featured by a Pullman style, tile-topped lavoratory. Bestile lines the three walls above the tub. A marbelized linoleum is used on the bathroom and kitchen floors.

Interior stucco is found on the walls and steel sash is specified throughout.

A service porch has cupboards, a broom closet and laundry tray. A half-bath adjacent to the service porch has a shower stall lined with tile.

A covered back entrance leads into the double garage. Tool closets in the garage are conveniently placed. A small basement is an unusual feature for California.

Contractors for the house are Niswander, Hayes and Niswander.

Traffic Questions Answered Here

Q—I am a minor, age 15. I have a license with two restrictions on it. How may I have those removed before I am 16? Have had no accident or ticket in six months.

A—The issuance of operator's licenses to 14 and 15 year old minors is regulated by Vehicle Code Section 257. This section provides that the Department shall impose restrictions on any such license that may be considered appropriate. These restrictions are usually governed by the statement of reasons furnished by the parents or guardian and are also conditioned with regard to the subject's guardian and are also conditioned with regard to the subject's driving ability as determined by examination. Either or both restrictions may be modified, the first for good cause and the second after further examination, but an unrestricted license cannot be isued prior to the licensee's 16th birthday.

Q—I was under the impression automobile license number plates could be issued only by the state but I notice others issue them. Can anyone secure them at such places?

A—The California Insurance Code, Chapter 145, Statutes 1935, covering motor clubs, provides that clubs meeting requirements of the law, may, among other services, assist "any person" in obtaining registration of any vehicle within the state.

Q—I am confused as to just what a "crosswalk" is. Are there such things at every street intersection in the city or in the country?

A—The Vehicle Code describes a "crosswalk" as "either (a) that portion of a roadway ordinarily included within the prolongation or connection of the boundary lines of sidewalks at intersections where the intersecting roadways meet at approximately right angles. (b) Any portion of a roadway distinctly indicated for pedestrian crossing by lines or other markings on the surface." The safest rule is to watch for signs and markings at any place except intersections.

Q—What is required before I can start a car rental service? O. O. K.

A—This is an involved question and you should first contact your local officials as communities generally have ordinaces covering such a business.
